33RD ANNUAL FREE THANKSGIVING DINNER

The Salvation Army partners with local organizations to feed The Tucson Community

TUCSON, Ariz. (November 17th, 2017) – This Thanksgiving season, The Salvation Army is working extra hard to make sure less people go without a meal. We are excited to announce, for the first time our Tucson Hospitality House will host the 33rd Annual FREE Thanksgiving Meal for the community.

This is a special holiday tradition for the Tucson community and this year, The Salvation Army has partnered with St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church and Caridad Community Kitchen.

More than 250 local volunteers will help to prepare and cook the traditional Thanksgiving meal including turkeys and holiday sides. More than 600 Thanksgiving meals will be delivered to homebound individuals thanks to Caridad Community Kitchen. While our guests enjoy their meal, they will be entertained by the singing and dancing group, Kids Unlimited.

“We want the community to know what types of resources we provide for those in need. This could not be done without the support from the people in Tucson,” said Major Dawn Rocheleau, Director Special Services Tucson Metro.
